SHARPENED SAW IN THE PARLOR

Flora B. Gray Testified in Divorce
Hearing She Wouldn't Stand For Husband Doing That.

SHELLED CORN IN BEST ROOM

When Francis Gray Compelled Wife and Daughter to Walk to

That the duties of a housewife on a farm in Rush county are rather trying, especially when she has a husband such as Mrs. Flora B. Gray had, according to her testimony this morning in divorce proceedings in the circuit court, instituted by her, must be the case if the evidence introduced by her is all "the whole truth and nothing but the truth." She declared that she sewed and attended to the stock and the chickens through the day and then saved her minor duties, like churning, ironing and the like until evening, so that she could be in the presence of her husband and try to make him happy.

But the gist of her testimony was to the effect that her efforts were utterly fruitless. At least that is what caused her to apply for a divorce and Judge Blair thought that all the facts which she presented were sufficient to grant a divorce. He did that after she had concluded her testimony and it was found that the husband, Francis C. Gray, would not attempt to stop the issuance of a divorce. The alimony and other financial matters were settled outside of court. The court ordered the defendant to pay Mrs. Gray two dollars a week until further orders from him. Mrs. Gray was given the custody of her twelve-year-old daughter, Viola May Gray, and agreed to pay the costs of the case.

Mrs. Gray testified that the trouble started in the household when she joined the Christian Science church in this city. She declared that her health has been very bad, that she underwent two very serious operations and still did not improve until she joined the church, which, she asserted, was responsible for her improvement. The plaintiff testified that she would not allow her husband to make slighting remarks about her church, which she declared he did.

That her husband was a very selfish man, was the declaration of Mrs. Gray. She said that he would sit about the house and smoke his pipe and never utter a word. She testified that he would stretch out in front of the fire in their home and not allow any of the rest of the family to derive any benefit from the blaze. Mrs. Gray grew dramatic in describing how her husband stretched out before the grate, she attempting to imitate him as she did in describing how he swore and talked to her and her daughter. Mrs. Gray did not refer to any acts or words of her husband without attempting to imitate them.

"He never did show any affection for either me or May," continued the plaintiff. "He never kissed either one of us and always got very mad when we wanted to go any place. He persisted in shelling corn in the parlor and bringing his big cross-cut saw in there to sharpen it. I tried to keep the room clean and couldn't do it when he acted that way. He got mad whenever I said anything to him about it."

Mrs. Gray told of her discovery of the relations between her husband and a school teacher who boarded at their house. She said that she wished to have a school teacher in their home for the companionship and for the good influence that she might

BROOK'S COMET VISIBLE

Can be Seen With Naked Eye Each Evening.

The new comet, known as Brook's comet No. 26 is now visible to the naked eye. It can be seen from dark until daylight by looking about a point forming a triangle with Vego, the brightest star nearly overhead, at dark, and Gygus, the next brightest star two hours east of Vego. The comet is northeast of Vego and northwest of Gygus and is moving nearly westward. It is at 9 o'clock these evenings about half the distance from overhead to the north star.

ASKS FOR CUSTODY OF HER GRANDSON

Jessie Innis Files Affidavit in Juvenile Court Alleging Parents Are Not Fit Persons.

TO CARE FOR THEIR OWN CHILD

Today, Mrs. Jessie Innis, living at 332 North Morgan street, filed an affidavit in juvenile court that her son, Hubert Innis, and his wife, are not fit persons to care for their child, Carl, four years of age. She asks that the boy be placed in her custody. The court ruled that the child should be placed in her possession and retained by her until the case is heard in juvenile court Monday afternoon at four o'clock.

The boy is the one over whose possession the grandmother and mother quarrelled last Tuesday evening. It will be remembered that Mrs. Kate Innis, the mother, created a disturbance that evening by running down Main street through the business district, crying hysterically and carrying her son. She told an incoherent story of an attempt to steal her boy, and it later developed that she had been to the home of her mother-in-law and had taken him away. Mrs. Jessie Innis had the child in her possession, having taken it from the home of the mother's relatives while she was away.

ASKS OBSERVANCE OF PRISON SUNDAY

State Board of Charities Issues Its Annual Pamphlet to Clergy of the State.

THE OBSERVANCE IS GENERAL

The board of State charities has issued its annual pamphlet to the clergy of Indiana, urging the observance of Prison Sunday. The date is October 29. The pamphlet, which is being sent to clergymen throughout the State contains a description of the origin of prison Sunday in New York at a meeting of ministers.

If for any reason the Sunday selected by the board can not be used as prison Sunday by any church the board urges that another Sunday be set apart for the preaching of a sermon on the subject. A resume of the work in Indiana, relative to the uplift of penal and correctional institutions inmates, is contained in the pamphlet, which is an output of the printing establishment of the Indiana reformatory.

BOOSTER CROWD HELPEDBUSINESS

PRAISE FOR THE RUSVILLIANS

Press of Neighboring City Agrees
That Local Crowd is a Live One.

It is estimated that there were close to at least eight hundred visitors in this city Thursday evening from Rushville, Milroy, Burney, Hartsville, Hope and Columbus, says the Greensburg News. Rushville sent the big delegation, and a quarter to eight, on a special train of five coaches, nearly five hundred boosters from that city alighted at the Big Four depot. Milroy people also came on this train and were probably a hundred strong.

The visitors were met by a delegation of nearly a hundred local citizens and the Greensburg band. Torches were in abundance, and as the big procession filed up the street on both sides, to inspiring music, it certainly was an impressive and imposing spectacle.

The Rushville visitors soon commenced to distribute advertising matter showing the date of their big horse show and combination sale for October 18, 19, and 20, and then like all the others that came in on the trains Thursday evening, commenced to commingle with the crowds and to enjoy themselves by taking in the street fair proper. That visitors came for a time and also had it, is evidenced by the way they patronized stands and shows. All the concession people claim that business immediately commenced to pick up with the advent of the special trains and continued until time for their departure. The crowd on the streets that night was a jolly, good natured one, and the chief object of everyone seemed just for having a good time.

Greensburg certainly feels indebted to Rushville, Milroy, Burney, Hope, and Hartsville, for the manner in which they turned out for our fair, and we certainly will reciprocate when the occasion presents itself.

Daffydil Doings Down In Dippy Dell

Joe Pugh was exercising the fat and sassy fire team the other day when a boy whizzed by on his bicycle and scared them. The team jumped sideways, landed squarely in a wire fence and was caught. Their feet were tangled up in the fence and work as he might Joe could not extract them. As luck would have it the fire bell rang. What was Joe to do? He could not go to a house and telephone for fear that the horses would cut themselves. He must stand by and keep them pacified. He figured that somebody would start out on a still hunt before long and discover him. But suppose the town 'ould burn down before they found him? How could he ever explain that

FIRES TWO SHOTS AT FLEEING MAN

Deputy Sheriff of Shelby County
Fails to Catch Jack Miller, Alleged Robber.

OFFICER GIVES UP THE CHASE

Much Wanted Man is Accused of Being Implicated in Theft on Rush County Farm.

After chasing Jack Miller the entire length of St. Paul and firing two shots after him, believing that the shots would frighten him so that he would give himself up, Deputy Sheriff Henry Terry returned home Friday empty-handed, says the Shelbyville Republican. The last he saw of the man was his coat-tail rounding the corner of the school house at Paul-town.

A warrant has been filed here against George Mason, another against "Doc" Shipp, and a third against Miller, charging each with being implicated in the theft of a large hog belonging to James Meal, a Rush county farmer.

The hog was placed in the stock yards Friday night and was to be shipped with a number of other hogs to Indianapolis last Saturday. The trio of young men, it is said, stole the hog and sold it to Emmett Favors of St. Paul at 6½ cents a pound.

Meals learned that one of the hogs was missing next day and he made an investigation, charging Mason with the theft. He brought him before Squire Webb, where his bond was fixed at $100 and he was able to give this amount.

After furnishing bond Deputy Sheriff Terry secured a warrant for the arrest of Shipp. He went to St. Paul and secured his prisoner, bringing him here and placing him in jail to await the action of the grand jury.

Sheriff Moore received word Friday morning that Miller had showed up again in that town and he sent Terry to St. Paul to arrest the man as his time was taken up with other business. When Terry went to the place where Miller resides, which is near the depot, Miller saw the officer coming, and while Terry was forcing the front door open, Miller was making his exit through the rear door.

Deputy Terry heard the door slam, and running to the rear of the house saw his man making tracks. The deputy started after Miller, and he had, before that time, been given the promise of assistance by some of the street corner watching him. They failed, however, to give him the promised aid, and the officer continued the chase alone only to lose his man.

Mr. Terry returned to Shelbyville on the next car and he is now determined to catch the man, even if it should take him a year.

It is said that Mason, who was the first to be placed under arrest, claims that they were all interested in the theft. He said that two days later he informed Favors that he had a hog at his home which was wild and he would take $10 for it. A day later Meal heard of the transaction and claimed the hog and it was turned over to him. It is understood that Mason has also returned the $10 to Favors, the amount he paid for the hog.

FORMER EDUCATOR DIES

Eli Jay, Relative of Will Jay, Expires in Richmond.

Eli Jay, eighty-five years old, one time acting president of Earlham College, and a distant relative of Will Jay of 621 North Main street, died at his home in Richmond yesterday. He was one of the best known members of the Society of Friends in Indiana. He had served as custodian of records for the Indiana Yearly Meeting of Friends and acted in various capacities in the Richmond meetings of the church. He was professor of mathematics in Earlham at the close of his work there in 1883. Both Mr. Jay and his wife were on the faculty at Earlham for a number of years, and prior to coming to Richmond both taught in the schools at Greenfield, Ind. Mr. and Mrs. Jay were graduated with the first class in Antioch College, Ohio.

ORDERED TO GIVE ACCIDENT FACTS

Employees of C. H. & D. and Other Roads Receive Bulletins Instructing Them to Withhold no News.

TO STOP EXAGGERATED STORIES

Employees of the Baltimore & Ohio, Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern and the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton roads, it is said, have received copies of a confidential order from the headquarters of the system in Baltimore, instructing them to give out for publication all facts regarding news of the road, including accidents. The order says, "It is, of course, recognized as impossible, if, indeed, it be desirable, to suppress the news of a disastrous railway accident; but reports of accidents are sometimes enlarged upon and exaggerations creep in, this particularly being the case when newspaper representatives have difficulty in securing facts. We do not think it possible to have reports confined to a simple statement of facts and always to avoid 'scare' headlines through co-operative measures. Where a newspaper reporter, assigned to handle the story of a railroad accident, is enabled to secure the facts from an authentic source his account is invariably more conservative than where he is forced to draw upon his imagination, due to a lack of assistance from railroad officials. This subject is being followed up from this office, and the co-operation of each officer and employee is sought, to the end that the local press may realize that their true vocation is appreciated and at the same time have them appreciate something of the railroad situation."

COMMENTS ON NEW AUTO LIGHTS

Ephriam Myers, Living North of the City, Talks About Innovation on His Machine.

RETURNING FROM A PARTY

Never Turns to See if His Wife is "Coming"—Makes Frightful Discovery.

"Gee, these new auto lights are dandy, ain't they?" remarked Ephriam Myers, a farmer living north of the city, to his wife in the back seat, as he drove his automobile home the other night from the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Moorelock's where a surprise had been held that evening. "I don't see how we got along without these lights before this," continued Mr. Myers, evidently believing that Mrs. Myers was an interested auditor. "We have never had lights before and that's the reason I never knew how nice they really are."

So Mr. Myers continued to ramble in his conversation all during the trip home. Never once did his wife answer him, but that did not occur to him to be unusual. The journey was made without incident and Mr. Myers drove up to the gate at home and climbed out to open it when he casually glanced back at where he thought his wife was. Imagine his horror when he discovered that she was not there. Imagine the thoughts that raced through his brain as he pictured the things that might have happened to her on their journey home. And here he, the dumb head that he was, had been talking to her and had not thought it strange that she did not answer him.

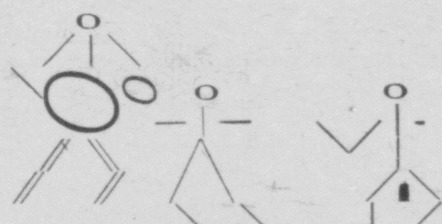

He slammed the gate, that he had partially opened, shut it with a bang, and scampered over to his machine. Flop, and the crank would not work. Panting and perspiring, he fumed and toiled with that blamed crank but crank it would not. He fancied he could see his wife lying along the roadside moaning or perhaps dead. Zip, a buzzing noise and the engine began to sputter. The next instant it was purring like a white kitten when he got hold of the gasoline gauge.

The absent-minded farmer backed that old machine in the road and headed her in the direction from whence he had so quietly come a few minutes before. Those fancied pictures of what her condition might be continued to flit through his brain and he "cut her loose." His engine was capable of sending the car only sixty miles an hour and he wished a million times in a second that it could send his car at least a hundred miles an hour so as to rid himself of the fear that was surely eating his life's blood away.

"Br-r-r," the old engine hummed and the wheels skidded back and forth on the muddy road. The skimming machine held no terrors for him, nothing appeared dangerous in the light of what he might discover. He traveled the distance back to the Moorelock home, but failed to see his wife's dead body along the roadside as he imagined he would. He turned in at the Moorelock farm yard on two wheels and several people rushed to the yard gate to meet him.

"Why Eph," cried his wife, "what did you go off and leave me for?" The most absent-minded man has been located.

The funeral services of Mrs. Ada J. Matney will be held Sunday morning in the Little Flatrock church, conducted by the Rev. M. G. Long. Burial will take place in the church cemetery.

Hold that horse! He'll scare at the calliope.

Town Development

John Ihlder, field secretary of the National Housing Association, says that a new profession has been created by the growing popular interest in civic affairs, that of the civic secretary.

Except in a very few of the largest cities, organizations designed to further civic welfare were strictly amateurish only a few years ago, and they only played with the problems in which they were interested.

There has been a significant change.

Playing with civic and social problems is quite as dangerous as monkeying with the buzz-saw of grandfather's time, and surprise awaited the citizens who so light-heartedly thought to hasten the millennium as a pastime. They learned, among other things, that they must either give up their new found interest or take it seriously.

Some gave it up; others found it hold upon them too strong. To hear a part in the big constructive work of a community, work which promises no financial reward, but, on the contrary, often demands a financial expenditure, yet does give the satisfaction of service willingly rendered, has a fascination for many of the ablest men.

These men, thoroughly imbued with the spirit of civic and social endeavor, remained in the early organization, or, being members of other associations, such as chambers of commerce and boards of trade, gave to these pronounced social or civic tendency. It was realized that thorough work would be required to obtain results and for thorough work they organized. Then they called in as executive officers men who would make this work their profession. Thus came the civic secretary.

In the Buffalo convention of the National Municipal league last year, 20 members of this new profession formed the civic secretaries' committee with the purpose of keeping in touch with one another and of promoting the cause in which they were enlisted by an exchange of experience and advice. In other words, the object of the committee is to consider questions connected with the organization and methods of civic associations.

The organizations represented in the committee comprise associations dealing primarily with efficiency in the public service and elections, as, for example, municipal voters' leagues, civic leagues like those of St. Louis and Pittsburgh; city clubs, like those of New York, Chicago and Kansas City; federations like the Boston United Improvement association; clubs which take no formal action on specific questions, but serve mainly as an organization for an exchange of views and discussions, like the Boston City club, organization dealing with some special subject, like the National Housing association

A scheme of employing the vagrants committed to the Allen county jail in the work of improving the river banks has been met with much favor by those at the head of the river front improvement work at Fort Wayne. It is argued that the labor is a kind not much sought after and that therefore the employment of prisoners would not be competition with free labor. Evansville recently started this working of prisoners, and the Allen county commissioners will be approached with a similar scheme.

Contamination of Food Not Confined to Summer

With the approach of the winter season most of the citizens of Rushville think that the danger of contamination of food is completely gone but such is not the case. The coming of cold weather increases the danger in several different ways. The first danger is in the milk supply.

It may seem incongruous or without any basic principle but medical authorities are agreed that the coming of winter makes the possibility of getting bad milk much greater. Upon consideration this may easily be seen to be true. During the summer the milk cow is allowed to roam a pasture field. She lies down at night on the grass and is clean and sweet when she appears for the morning milking. She is in the same condition at night. During the cold weather there is no pasture and if outdoors the cow is generally confined in a lot quickly becomes covered with manure. This manure sticks to the cow as she passes through the lot or lies down to sleep.

This dirty condition of the cow is bound to result in some filth getting into milk and some of it dissolves so there is no possible chance of getting rid of it. The dirt goes either to the consumer of milk or is gathered in to the other cream and from there into the butter. In the end it is eaten and whatever germs may find a hiding place in it before its introduction into the body go along. These germs may cause many complaints and they may not. Taken in all the chances are great that they may do no damage.

Coming down to the supply of Rushville with milk one of the health officers stated in an interview that the dairies which supply the milk for the population are on the average of the dairies over the country. Some are kept excellently and others are not what they should be. This latter class keep within the regulation of the law but there is still room for improvement on the part of the management in the way of improved sanitary conditions.

One practice which this health official condemned in no uncertain terms is that of hauling the milk around in open cars and lading it out to the customers at different stops. In this way the cans are open to the air at different times and much dirt and dust can gather in the milk in just a short time. Drivers of wagons have been known to stop in dusty and dirty streets and exchange milk from a can on one wagon to a similar can on one wagon to a similar receptacle in another.

As a substitute for the method of dealing out the milk in such a fashion the health authority said that the closed receptacle such as a bottle should be used. Milk that is bottled after having been taken from the cow under sanitary conditions is almost always pure so far as dirt from outside sources is concerned. Impurities in the milk itself not coming from outside sources depend upon the physical condition of the cow.

The use of bottles can be abused as well as anything else. Some people who receive the milk are not cleanly themselves and they take no care of the bottles. They may be rinsed out but at the same time other uses some of them filthy, may have left a taint in the bottle. A cleansing with live steam is the only way that all impurities may be brought to a short end. This is costly and brings the cost of the milk higher than that sold under less precautionary measures.

The health officer interviewed said that the precautions taken with the milk would naturally make the selling price higher and that people are apt to misunderstand. They naturally turn to the lower priced milk and take longer chances on being afflicted with some disease as a result. The high priced dairy man is condemned without a trial when he should be given consideration.

In addition to issuing a warning to the people of the city this health official told of conditions that should exist around a model dairy. First, the animals should be of a good breed and should not be diseased. Another requisite is the cleanliness of the animals and the people who handle them and the milk. A complete change of clothes should be made by the milker of the cows before the operation is commenced and the bodies of the cows themselves washed. The milk pail should be covered with two thicknesses of cheese cloth. This will keep out flying particles of dust or floating hair and prevent much of the filthy condition so prevalent in many places.

Rushville has had a quiet summer so far as sickness is concerned and the health officials are anxious that the winter will prove equally as healthful. While it may be hard on the doctor it is becoming more and more the common thing that prevention of disease be used instead of cures after the patient has contracted them. With the co-operation of the citizens of the town the health officials believe that the general health of the public may be improved.

WANTS OPINION ON TRUSTEES' POWERS

State Superintendent Will Ask Attorney General Concerning Distribution of Township Pupils.

COMBINATION OF PATRONS

Charles A. Greathouse, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, will ask the attorney-general for an opinion as to whether the will of a township trustee is final in the matter of distributing pupils to the school district. The question has arisen in a number of places where differences of opinion exist among school patrons as to the advisability of abandoning schools. Under the law, when the school enumeration is taken, a patron is empowered to select the school district in which he wishes to have his children enumerated. Instances have arisen where patrons, having made such selection, desire to sent their children to another school and have resisted the township trustee when he attempted to compel them to patronize the school selected at the time of the enumeration. By a proper manipulation of affairs in a district, a group of parents may pull the attendance of a school down to such a small number that abandonment is compulsory under the law.

Mr. Greathouse wishes to know if the trustee has the power to prevent carrying out such a plan by a combination of patrons.

SCHOOL BOOK QUESTION.

Charles A. Greathouse, State superintendent of public instruction, has received word from a number of the school officials of the State, asserting that supplementary primary textbooks in geography are being purchased by the children at the suggestion of school officials. The State Board of Education adopted a one-book course in geography and by the statute school trustees are not allowed to expend school money for supplemental text books. If the children purchase the books at the suggestion of the teachers there is no law violated, however, Mr. Greathouse believes.

BOMBS AS IN COWNS

Different Kinds Recalled by Black Hand King's Grapefruit Missile.

WHEN Giuseppe Costabelli, known as the "king of the Black Hand," was arrested in New York recently for having concealed under his coat a bomb the size of a grapefruit, containing enough dynamite to shatter an entire building, the police remarked that it was another of the many new fashions in the making of bombs, some of which look like cans of green peas, valises, canes and little lunch packages. Odd as it sounds, it is an actual fact that there are fashions in the bombs among revolutionists and anarchists as capricious as those ruling woman's dress.

The dagger, for ages the favorite means used for the elimination of enemies, has become obsolete, and, according to the ethics of the "reds," the stiletto or knife has never been wide enough in its scope.

The progressive twentieth century anarchist or radical reformer aims to kill by wholesale, and for this purpose the ideal weapon is the bomb. In order to carry out his plans successfully the vigilance of the police has forced him to change both the form and the composition of his favorite means of destruction.

Term a Misnomer.

The word bomb in the general acceptance of the term is a misnomer, at least as far as recent specimens of the Spanish, Portuguese, French and German article are concerned. Formerly a bomb was associated with a sphere or cylinder of cast steel or iron, which was at best a clumsy affair, not only awkward to handle, but difficult to conceal.

The anarchists of today have reduced the manufacture to a science, and the evolution of the modern bomb is an interesting study. In days gone by there were two recognized methods of killing by explosives—one by the instantaneous expansion of deadly, permanent gases, enveloping and suffocating every living thing within reach, carrying with it, as a rule, a fetid, intolerable stench, and the other loading up the regular cylinder with balls and cartridges.

The force and expansion of ordinary powder were limited, fortunately, and the damage from bombs was relatively small in the infancy of bombmaking. The first really important discovery in progressive explosives was made when fulminate of mercury put in an appearance. It revolutionized the manufacture of arms and gave the world the percussion cap.

Fulminate of Mercury.

The Barcelona radicals in their recent demonstration against the government used fulminate of mercury bombs. One of these exploded, killing almost thirty persons. Another was caught in a woman's dress and picked up intact and is now in the government laboratory. As a specimen of bombmaking it is a masterpiece and shows the skill of an expert mechanic. It is made of fine steel, the halves being fitted together by a nicely finished thread. It contains not less than twenty-six percussion caps.

Bertillon, the famous French criminal expert, has established a museum showing specimens of old and modern bombs used by anarchists "for the propaganda of the faith." Ravachol was the first to take advantage of dynamite in the bomb business. He invented the "kettle bomb," crude, but

UNIQUE JAIL TO GO.

Telegraph Pole and Chains Constituted
Western Town's Lockup.

Western Pacific trainmen running from Oroville, Cal., to Gerlach bring word that that town is to lose its jail, which is said to be the only one of its kind in the country.

The jail consisted of chains attached to a telegraph pole. On the post was nailed the sign, "Gerlach City Jail." Offenders, after being found guilty, simply had the chain attached to their ankles and were left there to spend their term. Others were kept there awaiting trial in a justice court. Now word has been received that a new portable steel jail is on its way to Gerlach, in which prisoners are to be confined in the future.

Gerlach is a division point on the edge of the Nevada desert. Its total population is less than a hundred; but, like most new railroad towns, it has a large proportion of undesirable citizens, whose presence made a jail a necessity.

CAT AIDS TAXIDERMIST.

Brings In Sixteen Kinds of Birds For Its Mistress to Mount.

Mrs. Fannie Davis, an expert taxidermist of Slingerlands, N. Y., has a remarkable cat, for which she has recently refused an offer of $100. This cat has all the instincts of a well trained bird dog. It catches birds, but instead of eating them takes them to her mistress, who rewards Tabby by giving her a dish of milk.

So far this season the cat has caught sixteen different species of birds, which Mrs. Davis has mounted.

HAS FEET CUT OFF TO AID HER IN WALKING.

Woman, Long Cripple, Was Partially Conscious During the Operation.

One of the most remarkable examples of fortitude and nerve on the part of a woman in the annals of the medical profession, according to physicians, was manifested at a Pittsburgh hospital when Miss L. Simmons, thirty years old, submitted to the amputation of both feet, taking only a mild anesthetic.

Miss Simmons was born with deformed feet and has been barely able to move. Her feet were turned inward in such a manner that she was unable to take steps, and she has been using a wheel chair all her life. Physicians have performed operations in the hope of straightening her feet, but all have proved unsuccessful. Several days ago she told members of her family that she thought if both feet were removed she would be able to walk much better.

Physicians said this would add to her crippled condition and probably result in death, but Miss Simmons was insistent.

"My heart is good, and I can stand the shock," she smilingly told the physicians when they tested her strength. "Go ahead and cut them off."

But it was found by the physicians that the patient's heart was not strong and that a powerful anesthetic, such as would be required in her case, would very likely prove fatal. They told Miss Simmons this. She only smiled and told them to proceed, that she could endure the operation.

A mild anesthetic was administered, and the operation was successfully performed. During the entire operation the woman was only partially under the influence of the drug. Immediately after she revived fully and remarked: "I am glad it's all over. I know I will be able to walk now."

Miss Simmons plans to use artificial feet in the future.

ENVOYS TO GET HOMES.

United States Asks Diplomat Abroad to Estimate on Cost.

Ambassadors and ministers of the American foreign service have been instructed by the state department to submit estimates for the construction or purchase by the United States of homes for them in every capital of the world.

This is in accordance with recent authority granted by congress, providing for government owned embassies and legations, in order to relieve the diplomats of the enormous expense of rent, which in some cases exceeds their salaries.

Congress limited the cost of any embassy or legation to $150,000. State department officials believe that this will be inadequate to afford abodes in keeping with the dignity of the nation, especially in the large capitals, where it is believed an appropriation of $250,000 or $300,000 will be needed. With the $150,000 limitation, it is thought, the policy of erecting or purchasing American legations can be inaugurated in some of the Central and South American countries.

The question of supplanting with American citizens the great number of foreigners who hold positions in the consular service of the United States will be taken up with congress at the next session, when the state department will ask for an additional number of consular assistants to replace men owing allegiance to other countries. These foreigners sometimes occupy the relation of vice consul because of the impossibility of securing Americans far away from home at $1,000 a year salary.

With a greater number of consulate assistants appointed by competitive examinations it is believed that the situation can be met.

FEAR A ONE CENT BRIBE.

Coin Is Sent to Secretary Nagel by Jerseyite Who Likes Him.

A bronze cent piece of the coinage of 1849 has caused excitement among the office force of Secretary Nagel of the department of commerce and labor at Washington.

Mr. Nagel's secretary, Harry A. Stevens, was alone in the office when a solitary letter arrived with the penny, big as a silver quarter. It was a present to Secretary Nagel from a New Jersey man who said that he liked some of the speeches the secretary had made. H. W. Rollman is the donor.

What to do with the coin worried Stevens. He feared it might be regarded as a bribe. He turned it over to Mr. Nagel for final disposition.

AEROPLANE HATS.

Aviation Will Influence Winter Styles of Women's Headgear.

The science of aviation is to be the chief influence on designs for woman's headgear next winter, according to the National Association of Retail Milliners.

Like the aeroplanes, the hats will be based on two distinct designs—monoplanes with single spreads of plumes and biplanes. In the display of winter styles such names are found as "sky stars," the "volplane turban" and the "rainbow spiral," a particularly giddy effect in many colors.

He Needn't Pay Duty.

Probably the only person exempted specifically by law from paying tariffs is the president of the republic of Panama, who, by a recent law, may import any article duty free for his own personal use.

HYOMEI FOR CATARRH

World's Greatest Remedy Free From Cocaine, Opium and All Habit
Forming Drugs.

Start right now, before the cold weather comes, to kill catarrh germs and get rid of catarrh. It's the best time.

Breathe HYOMEI (pronounce it High-o-me.) F. B. Johnson & Co. guarantees it. It is made of Australian eucalyptus, thymol and other antiseptics, and besides destroying the germs it soothes and heals the sore, raw membrane and prevents mucus from forming in the air passages.

Breathe it a few times a day. It's an easy and pleasant treatment and results are quick and certain.

HYOMEI is guaranteed for catarrh, asthma and catarrhal deafness, or money back. A complete outfit, including hard rubber inhaler, costs $1.00. Extra bottles if afterwards needed cost but 50 cents.

SAY THEY CAN'T GET FAIR TRIAL IN LAKE

Gary Officials Ask Change of Venue to Porter.

Crown Point, Ind., Sept. 16.—In the circuit court here, before Judge McMahon, appeared Mayor Thomas E. Knotts of Gary and a number of the city councilmen who were charged with bribery in connection with the Dean heating franchise.

As was anticipated, Mayor Knotts' attorneys immediately filed an affidavit for a change of venue to Porter county, claiming that a prejudice existed in Lake county against the mayor and that a fair trial could not be had. Judge McMahon granted a week's time for Mayor Knotts in which to file a petition signed by citizens of the county substantiating his claim of prejudice.

In the meantime the state will file a petition from hundreds of citizens of the county denying that a prejudice exists against the mayor and say that he can receive a fair and unbiased trial.

The same application for a change also was granted to C. D. Williston, member of the board of public works and the members of the council.

The mysterious T. B. Dean, to whom the famous bribery franchise was granted, was not present at the preliminary argument and no doubt will not appear with the dictagraph evidence until the trial is called. It was decided that each man will be tried separately. Owing to the fact that the charges against some of the councilmen are almost identical, it was thought several of them might be tried together.

Two Held For Stealing Horse.

Paris, Ill., Sept. 16.—Mr. and Mrs. John Lockard of Taylorville, Ind., are under arrest here charged with the theft of a valuable horse and rig from William Stewart, a farmer of this city. The outfit disappeared from a hitch rack near the public square. After being identified they made a full confession.

Eczema Stopped for 10 Cents

When you get tired of wasting dollars on high priced alcohol preparations buy a 10 cent box of Plex, "the quick-healing salve." It will open your eyes. Two or three applications produce wonderful results, in eczema, Canth itch, dandruff or any other skin trouble. For a quick cure try Plex.

Plex is a wonder-working, penetrating ointment. It destroys germs, cleans and heals quicker than anything else you ever heard of. Has a hundred uses in every home.

One application cures itching piles. Repairs sores, stiff muscles like magic. Cures croup and sore throat. Splendid for catarrh. Has no equal for sore, itching, sweaty feet. Best thing known for cuts, etc.

A big box of Plex costs only 10 cents, but it's worth its weight in gold. Your druggist has it or can easily get it for you.

Why buy packing house meats when you can have home dressed meats at H. A. Kramer's. We cure all our hams and bacon and boil our hams, no poison in them. 84tf

AN ANARCHISTIC PLOT REVEALED

Man Who Shot Stolypin Deputized to Do So.

PLOTTED AT ST. PETERSBURG

Bogroff, While Refusing to Answer Questions of the Police, Coolly Admits That He Is an Anarchist and Says That He Was Deputized by His Colleagues in St. Petersburg to Kill the Prime Minister.

Kiev, Sept. 16.—From the serious wound inflicted by a would-be assassin at the opera Thursday night, the present indications are that Premier Stolypin will recover. There are many versions of the manner in which the shooting was done, but they virtually concur. M. Stolypin is described as standing chatting with friends in the extra act in the front row of the orchestra stalls when Bogroff approached as if about to join the group and fired two shots point blank at the prime minister at a distance of not more than two or three paces. Bogroff was severely mauled by the throngs. His face was battered, his clothing torn to shreds. His identity has not been fully established, and it is not known if the name he gave to the police is real. The prisoner has persistently refused to answer the questions put to him by the police, though he coolly admits that he is an anarchist and says that he was deputized by his colleagues in St. Petersburg to kill the prime minister. It is said that he has undergone fifteen terms of imprisonment for political offenses. There is general surprise that the man could have gained admittance to the theater, as each person admitted was supposed to have to undergo the closest scrutiny of the officials.

The local newspapers insist that Bogroff is a Jew and the public is only too willing to believe the statement. There is consequently a dangerous outburst of anti-Semitism which is always latent. There is much excitement in the streets, and it is feared there will be outrages committed against the Jews. Prominent Hebrews have appealed to the authorities for protection. The rabbis and other leaders are projecting a petition to the czar assuring him of their loyalty, repudiating the criminal and asking for protection against violence.

OUTCLASSED

"White Hope" Morris Not in It With Fireman Jim Flynn.

New York, Sept. 16.—Carl Morris, the Oklahoma giant, is not a real "white hope," and will not be the man to win back the heavyweight crown from Jack Johnson, the world's champion.

Morris received a terrific beating in ten rounds from Fireman Jim Flynn of Pueblo, Col., and had it not been for Morris' wonderful pluck there is no doubt that he would have been put to sleep. Although Morris was nearly six inches taller and weighed fifty pounds more, he was practically slaughtered. Both of his eyes were closed, his nose was broken, his lips were slashed and he received so many blows on the right side of the head that it swelled to the size of a small pumpkin. From the moment the men put up their hands it was clear that Morris knew nothing of the art of self-defense. Barring a swollen left optic, the Pueblo man escaped without serious bruises.

Still Claims Self-Defense.

Danville, Ind., Sept. 16.—The grand jury of the Hendricks circuit court called to investigate the killing of W. A. McCaslin at Brownsburg, Aug. 25. Has returned an indictment against Charles Miller, holding him guilty of the crime and charging murder in the first degree. Miller has been in jail here since the death of McCaslin, and still contends that he did the shooting in self-defense.

Lay Delegates Selected.

Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 16.—At the lay delegate conference in connection with the Indiana Methodist conference delegates to represent the conference at the general lay conference were selected as follows: B. F. Adams, Bloomington; C. L. Van Arsdale, Hillsboro; G. J. Nichols, Petersburg; J. Frank Hanly, Indianapolis; A. A. Swartz, Jeffersonville; John W. Emison, Vincennes.

Boom Town Proves Failure.

Laporte, Ind., Sept. 16.—Starke county's boom town, Lena Parks, the dream of Chicago capitalists, is in the hands of a receiver, who was appointed to take over the tract of 1,000 acres which was platted and sold to investors when plans were made to establish an industrial city. Only one factory was opened and investors lost heavily.

The Wets Carry Maine.

Portland, Me., Sept. 16.—Cyrus W. Davis, secretary of state, reports that the tabulation of every county in Maine, with every voting precinct accounted for, figured a majority of 136 for the repeal of the constitutional prohibitory amendment. His total figures are: Yes, 60,514; no, 60,378.

CIRCUIT COURT TAKES CHARGE

Judge Bagot at Muncie Rules
In Liquor Case.

OVERRIDES COMMISSIONERS

It Is Held That in a Case of Appeal the County Commissioners Lose All Jurisdiction in Liquor License Cases, the Power to Grant Licenses Thus Being Transferred to the Circuit Court.

Muncie, Ind., Sept. 16.—Even if the decision reverses the commissioners' ruling, Judge Charles K. Bagot has indicated that in his opinion the circuit court, to which an appeal has been taken, has the power to grant liquor licenses in the appealed cases regardless of the commissioners.

The judge told attorneys that when the time came to grant licenses in Muncie, he would be the sole judge of the qualifications of applicants. This is practically a decision on the point of whether the circuit court or the commissioners shall grant the licenses in Muncie. The remonstrators assert that the state laws make the commissioners the only judges of the qualifications of applicants, while Judge Bagot indicates he will hold that in a case of appeal the commissioners lose all jurisdiction.

The court struck off forty-one names from the remonstrance, leaving the remonstrance lacking twenty-one of a majority. In a scathing denunciation of corrupt practices in obtaining signatures to liquor remonstrances Judge Bagot ordered stricken from the remonstrance four of the five names of men whose signatures are said to have been purchased.

SEWAGE DISPOSAL

Board of Health Puts Heavy Problem
Up to Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Sept. 16.—Dr. J. N. Hurty, secretary of the state board of health, has asked Attorney General Honan for instructions concerning the legal method of notifying the Indianapolis city board of health that the state board has ordered the discontinuance of the practice of emptying city sewage into White river. As soon as the attorney general has prepared the instructions the state board, under the anti-stream pollution act of 1909, will deliver the orders to the city board.

Compliance with the orders of the state board will make necessary the city's providing some sort of sewage disposal plant and from two to three years, it is estimated, will be required for this.

TORE CLOTHES OFF

Knightsville Woman's Remarkable Experience With Lightning.

Knightsville, Ind., Sept. 16.—Mrs. Peter Miller, aged thirty, formed a part of a circuit in the freaky course of a bolt of lightning during a thunderstorm. The bolt struck her home, tearing off the shingles, leaping to the porch and from there to a wire clothesline. Mrs. Miller was in the yard hanging out her washing. The bolt tore the clothing from her body, riddling her shoes and entering the ground. A large hole was torn in the earth. Mrs. Miller was made unconscious, but soon rallied and was only slightly injured.

CIGARETTES BARRED

Students at Notre Dame Warned
Against "Coffin Nails."

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 16.—The authorities of Notre Dame university have officially placed a ban on cigarette smoking among the students. The Rev. John Cavanaugh, C. S. C., president of the school, is back of the move and his signature is signed to the notice promulgating the new order. It is presumed students disobeying the order will be summarily suspended. Notre Dame is the first important college to declare against cigarette smoking among its students.

Janitor Murdered by Burglars.

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 16.—George Foster, aged fifty, janitor of the Warner building, in the heart of this city, is believed to have been murdered by burglars. A bullet wound near the heart revealed the cause of death. It is believed Foster either heard the burglars enter the building or met them as they came in.

Both Were Badly Shocked.

Princeton, Ind., Sept. 16.—Melvin Cooper, six years old, saw a telephone wire on the ground and picked it up. He was knocked down and terribly burned before his father, who saw the shooting fire a block away, could run to him and tear him loose. The father was badly shocked. Both will recover.

Victim of Line Shaft.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Sept. 16.—Caught by a line shaft in a pit at the rolling mills and whirled about it until all his wearing apparel except one shoe was stripped from his body, Charles Sandercock, an older at the mills, was instantly killed.

thoroughly the power of this form of salesmanship, but who said that advertising requires such expert study and experience that the ordinary merchant can not use it successfully. It is very true that advertising is a deep subject, and that experts can accomplish larger results than novices. But the foundation principles on which experts build their success can be acquired by any merchant.

The first and greatest commandment of advertising is "Be definite." Don't bother to look up long and brilliant descriptive words in the dictionary. Don't waste space and fatigue the reader with vague general phrases.

If you want to describe a shoe, tell the reader what kind of leather it is made from, whether the stock is soft or hard, whether it is water-proof or not, whether it is single soled or double soled, and so on with these or other details which the shoe man can supply. Enable the reader to form a clear mental picture of your goods. You do this, and if your price, which should always be given, is right, your goods are half marketed before the customer has left home.

One of the principal reasons for the tremendous growth of modern advertising is its unobstructive efficiency.

Salesmanship through the personal presence of one man or woman talking to another individual often suffers much from the obstructive personality of the seller. It is a fine art to sell goods. Few are trained to do it just right.

One person lacks the self assurance to push his arguments to the point of persuasion. Wearied by the persistent reluctance of the customer, his initiative fails. The customer leaves the store unsatisfied.

Life in a retail store for the clerks is a long series of trying contacts. The doubt and indecision of the customers, their inability to know their own minds, irritate the clerks. They become grouchy, the customer gets indignant, and the result of the little tiff is that the buyer goes off angry, not to return.

One trouble is that it is hard for the customer to make up their mind what they want on the spur of the moment. The salespeople do not always have the sufficient patience with this hesitation.

Selling goods by the newspaper advertisement has the tremendous advantage that the human personality does not affront the person whose patronage is solicited. The advertisement never wearies the customer, and is never efficacious. Printer's ink is never tired of telling its story. If the prospective customer hesitates, she can read the facts and figures for 20 times until she gets some idea what she wants, where the clerk in the store would become snappish if she is asked the same question twice.

The newspaper advertisement finds people in the mood for thinking about purchases. They take up the paper in the quiet of their homes, compare the offerings of the merchants at their leisure. It is entirely up to the merchants to see that the questions naturally to be expected are fully answered.

Hence it is that a large proportion of the sales of modern merchandise are practically made to people before they leave their homes.

EDITORIALETTES.

The divorce business is getting as heavy in the local court as it is in the Shelby circuit court.

It used to be enough to advertise that a horse was "sound, kind and warranted not to kick," but now it is necessary to show that he won't shy when an aeroplane alights in the next field.

An Ohio policeman was put in jail for abusing his horse, and when he later abused his wife he was simply put under bonds.

Of course, you catch the sarcasm? Ain't it cutting?

HORTICULTURALIST WILL LECTURE HERE

Prof. Alexander McPherson of Roswell, N. M., Will Give Free Illustrated Address Sept. 26.

IS ON TOUR OF UNITED STATES

Prof. Alexander McPherson, of Roswell, New Mexico, famous horticulturalist and special lecturer for the Berrendo Irrigated Farms Company of Roswell, will give a free illustrated lecture in the court house assembly room Tuesday evening, September 23. Mr. McPherson has over one hundred stereopticon views showing the development in the new State. He is a lecturer of ability and is especially qualified and experienced in his chosen work. He was once State horticulturalist for Idaho. His lecture is very general in its nature and covers many phases of the work.

Prof. McPherson left Roswell several days ago for a six weeks' tour of the United States. He will cover States in the western, north central and northeastern part of the country. He will give three lectures in Indiana, one at Lebanon Saturday night, Peru, Monday night and here Tuesday night. Carl V. Nipp of this city, State agent for the company, will accompany him on his tour of Indiana. He comes to Indiana from Illinois and will go to Ohio from here.

SAYS SHE ELOPED WITH SCHOOLMATE

Father of Mariam Dailey, Declares That His Daughter Has Been Located.

WILL BE BROUGHT BACK HOME

J. M. Dailey, 2431 North New Jersey street, father of Miss Mariam Dailey, who ran away from home on Tuesday night, on the eve of her return to high school, said yesterday that his daughter had been located and he was expecting every minute to receive a telegram telling that she had been detained by a son, Harold Dailey, who has been on the trail of Miss Dailey and a new husband, says the Indianapolis News. Mr. Dailey refused to tell where the young couple had been found or to reveal the identity of the young man in the case.

"I will say this," said Mr. Dailey, "we found a trace of the young people soon after they left the city and my son is now within twelve miles of them. I expect they will be returned within a few hours."

The police have not attempted to find the young woman since they learned from Dailey that she had probably left the city. The detectives were not taken into the confidence of the father and brother, who conducted the search. They understood, however, that the young woman and her companion, a former schoolmate, had fled toward Illinois.

SUMMER IS BACK ON JOB ONCE MORE

Returns After a Several Days' Vacation and Promises to Stay Until Autumn Arrives.

DUE TO DEPART SEPTEMBER 23

Summer has come back after being off the job for about three days. It was noticed yesterday that the good old summer time was returning and it arrived today. From present indications it promises to stay until September 23, which is the time designated on the calendar for its departure and the arrival of autumn. The cool weather of a few days ago seemed as though winter was not far away and many people priced stoves and overcoats, but with weather like that of today, interest has lagged. In late years it has been said that the summers were growing shorter, but this was not the case this year as the real warm weather began early in May and will probably last several weeks longer.

SOCIETY NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Norris of Noble township will celebrate their silver wedding anniversary on Friday, October 6.

AMUSEMENTS

It would be a difficult matter to pick the best picture of the three at the Portola last night, as all were far above the ordinary. All three films were feature pictures. "Craven Heart" a Selig production, is a sensational fire picture, with a pretty romance woven in. The picture shows a New York fire company making a run and then a thrilling rescue by the firemen. Much has been written and said about the Panama Canal, but the Edison picture, "The Panama Canal in 1911," shows it as it is today. The picture gives a good conception of what a large undertaking the building of the canal is and how this great work is carried on by the United States government. The last picture is perhaps the most thrilling Indian picture ever seen in this city. It is a Biograph entitled, "The Fighting Blood." It is a story of how a father gives and makes his children have the fighting spirit and then shows how they use it when attacked by Indians. The attack of the Indians is very realistic and it is said when the picture was taken that a troop of cavalry was on hand to prevent the Indians from carrying the battle too far. The Red Men used in the picture are from a government reservation. The same program will be given tonight.

Here's Where the Fun Comes In

A small colored boy devised a plan the other night for seeing the pictures at the Palace free of charge. He approached the box office and inquired if he might step inside and see if a friend he was looking for was there. When inside he forgot all about his friends and stayed for the show. The next night the boy came back and asked "if there had been a kid ride a wheel in." He was told bicycles were not allowed, and explained that he meant "had the boy left a wheel in front of the theater" and then gone to the show. Well, the stall worked and the boy went into the theater but did not stay long. As a hunter this small boy is a wonder, for he came back last night hunting his mother. He was allowed to enter and was told to hurry back. Nothing was seen of him and it was supposed he had found his mother and gone home. But when the evening's performance was over and the doors were being closed, a snore was heard from the front of the theater. On investigating, the little colored boy was found curled up on a front seat, sound asleep. He was asked to come again, when the management has a policeman in the house.

Safety Razor Strop

SPECIAL FOR

98c

With this perfect strop anyone can make their safety razor blades last 10 times as long.

By its use one set of 50c blades lasts as long as 20 sets costing $5. Even new blades will shave 100% better when put on this strop before using. It's mechanically perfect—just stick the razor blade in the slot and pull the strop back and forth by the rings (see cut). No experience necessary. In a twinkling your razor is sharpened with mechanical precision. Even an inexperienced youth can't fail to get a perfect cutting edge equal to that produced by the most experienced barber you know.

You'll never enjoy a shave—you'll never really know what a safety razor ought to be until you put your blades on this strop. It's a big, 2-inch wide, soft kangaroo strop, with a full 14-inch sweep, which sharpens the razor in quarter the time, as it has an actual sharpening surface 50% greater than the old fashioned kind.

This strop sharpens wafer blades and hollow ground blades with the same perfect edge. It is a regular $2 value. But we shall sell it for only 98c

Huntsmen of Rush County are Very Busy

There was a period of unbroken quiet. Far up in the tree a peculiar chatter broke the silence. A human being strode cautiously over the soggy ground. It was the stealth of the robber on his way to the scene of the robbery. A long object which appeared from the crook in the arm was hoisted in the air, one end on the shoulder of the man, the other pointing almost vertically upward. Another long silence reigned—the object in the tree having long since ceased the chatter. Then—
Bang! Bang!

The object in the tree fell straight downward and hit with a thud on the ground. The man with the gun picked up the little animal. The stealthy tread was resumed and the man vanished in the rapidly gathering darkness.

Peculiar, you say? Not a bit! What was the object in the tree? A squirrel of course. And who was the man? Why, one of the many residents of Rush county who, by the possession of a slip of paper marked "hunter's license," are given that joy that comes to the shotgun enthusiast during the hunting season.

With the rain of the last few days and the appearance of squirrels in large numbers, the first of the real squirrel hunting season has been ushered in. Probably never within the last few years have the prospects and the results coming from the hunting trip been so ideal as in the past few days. During the last few years the scarcity of squirrels say the huntsmen, has been abnormal. Nimrods of Rushville who tested the declaration of scarcity returned with a tell-tale emptiness in their hunting coats. There are some, of course who through knowledge of the best squirrel woods were enabled to bring home some good specimens of the bushy tailed animal.

This year, however, has seen some of those who returned empty handed in 1910 from the hunt returning now with several of the fox squirrels secured in their bags. Especially during a rain are the hunters to be seen in large numbers, and particularly when do the hunting licenses at the county clerk's office increase in number as do the numbers of squirrels taken by the hunters of Rush county. Just now the season is at its height and the men returning from the hunt are many.

But few weeks intervene before the time for the rabbit and quail season is ushered in. Reports from throughout the state are to the effect that the rabbit and quail, due to the more stringent hunting laws and through the establishment of game preserves are to be found in increasing numbers. Approximately 55,000 licenses were issued by the state in 1910 and fully 60,000, according to a dispatch received by the Republican are expected to have been issued when the final returns from the offices of the county clerks throughout the state are compiled December 31. The reason, as has already been stated, was mentioned in the dispatch as being directly the result of reports of the increase in the game of the state.

But very little difference in the number of licenses issued to date in 1911 and those during the same length of time in 1910 have been noticed in the Rush county office. Reports from over the country for rabbit and quail hunting prospects are encouraging. The dry weather of the spring when young rabbits still were in the nests helped to increase the number of rabbits, part of which number will be sure to fall a prey for the hunters' guns. Quail also are abundant, especially, it is said, in land located near one of the county's game preserves. The abundance of this wild bird in Rush county will bring thoughts of the hunting days in this vicinity that have passed, the quail having become practically extinct under the ruthless slaughter of Rush county hunters.

SAVE YOUR HAIR; SAGE TEA WILL DO IT

Dandruff, Itching Scalp and Falling Hair Quickly Stopped.

There is one place where baldheaded men shine, and that is in the front row seats of the theatre. If these baldheaded people had used Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy in their earlier days they would not be so conspicuous now. This preparation does not plant new hair, but it does strengthen weak, dying hair, and not only brightens dull, parched hair, but gradually restores the color to faded or gray hair. It is a clean, wholesome hair dressing, which can be used daily with perfect safety.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is sold under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented. This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special Agents, Hargrove and Mullin, Druggists, Rushville, Indiana.

FORMS A NEW RELIGIOUS CULT IN REAL ESTATE

The Rev. Morton Pattee Founds Church Known as "Church of The New Covenant."

DIFFERENT FROM ALL OTHERS

New Belief Being Organized at Waldron is Based on Principles of Fraternity.

Waldron, a small town a few miles southeast of Shelby, is attracting considerable attention by giving to the world a new religious cult. The new church, which is being founded by the Rev. C. Morton Pattee, is to be known as "The Church of the New Covenant."

It is to be different from any other church in existence in that it will exemplify fraternal benevolence by paying sick, accident and death benefits to its members. The finance necessary for carrying out this feature of the proposed organization and for paying other expenses of the church will be obtained through the tithing system, which is to be strictly followed by the church membership.

Public meetings will be held at the Council chamber in Shelbyville Sunday by the Rev. Mr. Pattee and his small band of followers for the purpose of expounding the principles on which the new organization is based and in the hope that recruits may be obtained.

The Rev. Mr. Pattee was the pastor of the Baptist church at Waldron for the last two years. He has been a Baptist preacher for the last seven years and before that time was affiliated with the United Brethren for thirty-three years as a minister.

Discussing the proposition, the Rev. Mr. Pattee has the following to say:

"When we read of a new church being organized, we generally relieve our minds by an expression indicative of wonder, contempt, or indignation, usually the latter for the general sentiment is that there are too many churches already. Among the many churches in our land, each one makes prominent some particular 'feature' or 'doctrine,' while few, if any, preach a full gospel.

"The changing conditions of society necessitate a readjustment along religious lines, every century, and sometimes two or three times during a century.

"An event like the Civil War finds men in every church on each side of the controversy. This fact led to the organization of the more radical elements into two or three different churches whose distinguishing feature was 'freedom to the slave,' or 'humanity to man.' But these churches being organized upon the 'humanitarian' principle, when the slave was freed, disbanded, there being no excuse for their continued existence.

"Today we are facing conditions never faced by any nation or people. All men who read and think, believe we are approaching very near to a 'world crisis.' However that may be, the laxity in morals, the form of 'godliness' in the churches accompanied by a denial of its power, clearly indicates that we have reached that period of time referred to in 2d Tim. 3-1-6.

"Well, is there a place, a demand, for a new church today? We think there is. The Church of the New Covenant, for that is the name of the new church, recently organized at Waldron, is, like every other church in the land, the product or development of years of experience, thought, observation and prayer.

Seemed to Give Him a New Stomach.

"I suffered intensely after eating and no medicine or treatment I tried seemed to do any good," writes H. M. Youngpeters, Editor of The Sun, Lake View, Ohio. A Great Advantage to Workingmen.

J. A. Maple, 125 S. 7th St., Steubenville, O., says: "For years I suffered from weak kidneys and a severe bladder trouble. I learned of Foley Kidney Pills and their wonderful cures so I began taking them and sure enough I had as good results as any I heard about. My backache left me and to one of my business expressman, that alone is a great advantage. My kidneys acted free and normal, and that saved me a lot of misery. It is now a pleasure to work where it used to be a misery. Foley Kidney Pills have cured me and have my highest praise. F. B. Johnson & Co.

RICHARD C. KERENS
American Ambassador to Vienna
Subject of Resignation Rumor.

Vienna, Sept. 16.—The Zeit says United States Ambassador Richard C. Kerens intends to resign, as Vienna does not suit his health. The members of the embassy staff say they are not aware of any such intention. They expect Mr. Kerens to return to his post in October.

GOT ALL THE MONEY THEY COULD CARRY

These Bank Robbers Had to Leave Some Behind.

Tacoma, Wash., Sept. 16.—Early in the morning five men entered the Bank of Montreal at New Westminster, B. C. through the front door, broke through a thick metal coating of the vault, tied up the Chinese caretaker, wrecked the cage door and blew open the safe. They took approximately $115,000 in gold and bills, leaving $20,000 in gold on a bed where they had piled the loot and made good their escape, possibly down the Fraser river in a launch, or else by automobile to Vancouver. There was $350,000 in the bank safe. Chief of Police Bradshaw believes the men would have taken it all if they could have carried it. As it was they took all they could carry away, leaving silver and notes of small denominations and damaged $500 and $1,000 bills lying around the floor and tables.

Frenzied Mother's Desperate Act. LaSalle, Ill., Sept. 16.—With her two daughters, three and four years old, tied to her body with a shawl, Mrs. Michael Mazora leaped into the canal. All three drowned. The motive of the mother was not ascertained by the authorities.

Woman Burned to Death. Wawaka, Ind., Sept. 16.—Mrs. Oak Randolph was fatally burned while making soap in a kettle out of doors. Her dress caught fire and she died after a few hours of terrible suffering.

TERSE TELEGRAMS

It is estimated that the present eruption of Mt. Etna has caused so far a property loss of $20,000,000.

The fourth annual conference of the "house of governors" adjourned to meet in Richmond, Va., on Dec. 3, 1912.

Robinson's circus, which stranded some time ago at Morganfield, Ky., will be sold at auction by order of the federal court.

The Atlantic steamship companies have decided that a 10 per cent increase in freight rates shall go into effect Sept. 30.

Property loss of nearly $500,000 was done and one life was lost in a cloud-burst which swept Etna, Sharpshurg and Millvale, suburbs of Pittsburgh.

The total amount of indemnity which will be collected from the Mexican government on account of the late revolution, it is stated, will not exceed $14,000,000.

The outrages and disorders in the municipalities of Ajalpa and Chilap, state of Puebla, Mexico, seem to be spreading and daily are becoming more serious.

Paul E. Bradley of Illinois, a law clerk of the interstate commerce commission, has been appointed assistant attorney general of Porto Rico. The salary is $2,500.

Postoffice inspectors at Memphis arrested Frank H. Hart, who, they say, knows something concerning the leadership of robbers who have looted mail cars and postoffices.

An advance report of the mines branch of the Dominion geological survey indicates that the total value of the mineral production of Canada during the past year exceeded $105,000,000, an increase of $13,209,517 over that of 1909.

The most reputable newspapers in both Berlin and Paris seem to be most hopeful regarding the outcome of the "conversations" on the Morocco situation, and it is believed that the negotiations have made a long step toward settlement.

THE PRESIDENT PRAISES WILEY

Food Expert Exonerated By the Chief Executive.

A SHAKEUP IS NOT UNLIKELY

One Paragraph of the President's Report on the Recommendation for the Dismissal of Dr. Wiley From the Service Indicates a Probability of a Turning Over in Uncle Jim Wilson's Department.

Beverly, Mass., Sept. 16.—Just before his departure on his western trip a decision of nation-wide importance and one that threatens to disrupt his cabinet was made by President Taft when he made public a statement exonerating Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, chief chemist of the department of agriculture, of charges of conspiracy made by the personnel board of the department, which had recommended that he, with other officials of the bureau of chemistry, "be allowed to resign."

The charges grew out of the employment of Dr. H. H. Rusby of New York as expert chemist and witness in the enforcement of the pure food and drug laws. The president declares in his decision that Dr. Wiley was justified in all that he did regarding the employment of Dr. Rusby and that he is entitled to sympathy in his effort to secure an enforcement of the laws against adulterated foods.

The president recommends, however, the reprimanding of Dr. L. F. Kebler and Dr. W. D. Bigelow of the bureau of chemistry for what he terms "disingenuous conduct." Dr. Rusby is held to be as guiltless as Dr. Wiley in this particular matter. The case, the president says, has made apparent the "doubtful legislative policy of placing limitations on bureau chiefs to exact per diem compensation for experts."

"The government," he says, "ought not to be at a disadvantage in this regard, and one cannot withhold one's sympathy with an earnest effort by Dr. Wiley to pay proper compensation and secure expert assistance in the enforcement of so important a statute as the 'pure food law,' certainly in the beginning, when the questions arising under it are of capital importance to the public."

There is no indication that the president feels that he "turned down" Mr. Wickersham by not accepting his recommendations. He explains that the attorney general's findings in the case were made with less complete data than was before him when he took it up. In the opinion the president admits what has been well known to many persons close to the administration, that there is trouble in the department of agriculture. Speaking of the congressional inquiry into that department, unfinished at the last session, but to be taken up again next winter, Mr. Taft says:

"The broader issues raised by the investigation, which have much weightier relation than this one to the general efficiency of the department may require much more radical action than the question I have considered and decided."

That this statement indicates a serious shakeup in the department next winter is freely predicted. There have never been any intimations that Secretary Wilson was disposed to retire, and it is not believed that the president would request him to do so. A general cleanup of affairs in the department, however, could easily be required by the president and carried through when he returns to Washington in November.

BESIEGED BY REBELS

The Situation at Changtu Is Reported to Be Critical.

London, Sept. 16.—The British minister at Peking cables the foreign office that he has received a telegram from the consul at Chungking stating that the latter has been informed by the taoi that the situation at Chengtu is critical. The city is surrounded by thousands of rioters and fighting is going on. The rebels hold the roads leading to the city and rioting within the walls is feared because of the shutting off of the food supply. The missionaries in the outlying districts of the province of Sze Chuan have been ordered to proceed to the nearest place of safety.

J. D. ROCKERFELLER, JR.

Son of Oil King Escapes Death Barely by Inches.

SON OF OIL KING HAD MIGHTY CLOSE CALL

Dodged Just In Time to Escape Death.

Tarrytown, N. Y., Sept. 16.—John D. Rockefeller, jr., escaped death by inches; one man will die and four others were terribly injured in an accident which occurred on Mr. Rockefeller's father's house at 4:30 yesterday afternoon. Young Rockefeller and his family only returned from Seal Harbor, Maine, yesterday, and Mr. Rockefeller went up to the hill to see how the addition to his father's house was progressing. The roof of the house has been torn off and it is being shoved up into the air to add ten bedrooms. Mr. Rockefeller arrived as some men were hoisting a bundle of steel up to the roof. The derrick had raised the steel to the second story when the tie rope broke and the steel tipped in the air on end and slipped through the noose. Mr. Rockefeller yelled "Jump for your lives, men!" and sprang back as the bundle of steel came crashing to the ground.

A number of Italian laborers were at work on the ground. The bundle of steel broke and the beams scattered and as they struck the ground they mowed the men down.

After the crash Mr. Rockefeller rushed in to pull out the injured men from under the pile of steel, calling for the other workmen to come to his aid. Nearly all the men had been hit on the head and one man's head lay open with an awful gash. Mr. Rockefeller helped tie bandages and gave the men all relief possible until physicians arrived.

ANOTHER NAVAL SCANDAL

Young Lieutenant Faces Courtmartial on Charge of Immorality.

Washington, Sept. 16.—Formerly on duty on board the cruiser Saratoga of the Asiatic squadron, Lieutenant Roy C. Smith, U. S. N., who must either resign from the service or be court-martialed upon charges of a serious nature involving his moral character, is a passenger on the Shinyo Maru, which will arrive at San Francisco today.

Lieutenant Smith will be met by Rear Admiral E. K. Moore, commandant of the navy training station at Yerba Buena, Cal., upon his arrival in this country, to ascertain whether he wishes the department to accept his resignation or whether he prefers to withdraw it with the understanding that he will return to his former station and stand trial before a court-martial under the usual naval procedure. If he declines to withdraw the resignation it will be accepted. He will be given the alternative, however, of trial by court martial if he desires. No action will be taken until his wishes are reported to the department. Lieutenant Smith is a native of Michigan.

have on the members of the family, and mainly for the board money, because, the witness said, her husband never gave her very much money anyway. One evening, Mrs. Gray saw reflected through a mirror, the picture of her husband and the school teacher sitting on the couch, he with his arms around the boarder. Mrs. Gray went into the room to make sure that the mirror was not deceiving her and then "read their pedigree."

According to Mrs. Gray's testimony that was sufficient cause to leave her husband, but she stayed with him. One Sunday Mr. Gray took the horse and buggy and she and her daughter had to walk to this city, a distance of 4½ miles to attend church, according to the wife's testimony. That was the straw that broke the camel's back. She left him the next week, never to return, so she said.

Paintings which the little daughter of the Grays painted before taking any lessons, were introduced as evidence. The court thought the work excellent as did the attorneys interested in the case. The little girl was called to the stand and Judge Blair, who has a strong liking for children, remonstrated. He said that he did not wish to have the child testify to the unhappy incidents in the life of her mother and father if the defendant did not intend to fight the case. When it was assured that Mr. Gray would not attempt to stop the divorce, the court said that he would grant the decree without the testimony of the bright-eyed girl.

The Grays lived 4½ miles northwest of this city, near Henderson. Mr. Gray is a member of the city band.

Chase Bennett was granted a divorce from his wife this morning which was the first court proceeding of the day. There was very little evidence introduced.

The Talbert divorce matter was settled this morning. Leona J. Talbert was given a divorce from Harry P. Talbert yesterday. This morning he paid the plaintiff a cash consideration as ordered by the court and the charge of wife desertion which was pending against him was dismissed.

The divorce case of Mary F. Sweet, which was to have been tried late yesterday afternoon, did not come up as the arrangements in regard to money matters were not fixed up satisfactorily.

ACTS AS JUDGE AT COUNTY FAIR

While Visiting in Ohio Alva Eakins is Called on to Officiate in an Emergency.

ARTS AND STOCK DEPARTMENT

Stays in Adams County, Where the Voters Were Disfranchised by Judge Blair.

Mr. and Mrs. Alva Eakins, living northeast of the city, have just returned from a visit with relatives in Adams county, Ohio, the county which was made famous by Judge Blair, who disfranchised most of the voters in the county for buying and selling votes. Mr. Eakins says that he scrutinized the countenances of the natives of the county closely and did not note that they were very far different from Rush county denizens.

Mr. Eakins and his wife were the guests at Peebles in Adams county. They wanted to go over to the county seat, West Union and take a look at the court house, where all of the vote buyers and vote sellers were arraigned and fined, but did not have the time. Mr. Eakins says that he talked to several of the voters who were disfranchised and they spoke of the late trouble in a matter-of-fact sort of a way as if it was a part of the general regime in Adams county.

Rushville people came in touch with the unusual proceedings in a general way by reason of the fact that Judge Blair lectured here during the "wet" and "dry" campaign and described the methods which he used in disfranchising and fining voters. Mr. Eakins says that there is apparently no ill feeling against the judge of the circuit court on account of his high-handed methods which he used.

While Mr. Eakins was in Adams county he was called on to officiate as a judge at a county fair and he accomplished the feat with becoming dignity, even though he has had little experience along that line. The fair association had trouble with the judge who was employed and Mr.

Eakins was called on to officiate. Of course he demurred, but finally agreed to award the premiums. He was judge in both the stock and fine arts department, awarding premiums in both divisions with an official air. Mrs. Eakins drove a horse in the lady's turnout class, but Mr. Eakins "renigged" there. He appointed three men to act as judges and they awarded the first prize to Mrs. Eakins.

Besides being famed for vote buyers and vote sellers, Adams county is the seat of a wonderful mound concerning which there has been much discussion among geologists and other scientists. The name tells the story. It is a mound which winds over several acres of ground and has the appearance of being a serpent with a perfect head and tail. It is believed to have been the work of mount builders centuries ago. It is supposed that it was erected for worship. A monster serpent in the act of swallowing an egg is represented by the ridge of earth five feet high and from eighteen to twenty feet broad, the egg being an oval enclosure one hundred and twenty feet long and sixty feet wide. The body of the serpent forms four graceful folds before reaching the tail which is twisted into three close coils. The length of the entire mound is over thirteen hundred feet.
